Wayfinding

The book is concerned with a relatively new design discipline at the intersection of graphic design and architecture – wayfinding. It includes contributions of the best design solutions around the world. The publication gathered a collection of 245 state-of-the-art wayfinding projects from around the globe grouped in parks, education facilities, corporate environments, commercial spaces, hospitality, transportation, health-care, and so on. Testimonies of the various contexts that influence the design and create identity. They are also samples of the multitude of expressions that our world depends upon.
